Mayor, board credited for senior housing

by GLORIA DAVIS

"It is due to the strong efforts of Antioch's Mayor Ray Toft, the Village Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz and the village board, that the village will have new senior housing," said Don Samuelson, developer of the 90 unit elderly and Section Eight Subsidy financed housing project.

One 25 unit senior housing project received approval from the Antioch Zoning Board last week and is expected to be approved by the village board at its next regular meeting on April 19.

Samuelson's 90 unit project is all set to go having the funding from the Illinois Housing Authority and expecting confirmation by the Dept. of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) after zoning and village board approval.

Samuelson says he expects to break ground by June and target completion date is set for nine to 12 months later or spring 1983.

The project will be in two buildings, scheduled to go on the east side of Main St., near Williams Park.

Forty eight units will be for the elderly and 42 will be slated for those making under $22,000 annually, under a Section 8 HUD Subsidy.

Samuelson said that Antioch residents will get first preference after filing to lease and credit and other qualifications are checked.

"We got the last senior funding available at the last money go-around," said Samuelson.

Sterbenz says the last step is for the village to issue a building permit and then the ground-breaking will start the project's physical process.

Antioch Democrats meet and organize Meeting officially for the first time since 1976, according to one party official, the Antioch Township Democratic organization officially restructured itself April 7 in preparation for the general election in November.

Democratic congressional hopeful Dan DeFosse of Antioch was selected as the township's new chairman. Vice chairman is Ron Ramig, treasurer is Barbara Comstock, sister of Democratic sheriff candidate Don Mason of Lake Villa, and township party secretary is Ellen Bauer.

Conspicuous by his absence from the slate is former township chairman Frank ReCupido who had been criticized by local Democrats for letting the township organization slip into disarray.

Present at the reorganization session were newly elected Lake County Democratic Chairman Jay Ukena of Waukegan and Waukegan Township Chairman George Grosch, who aided in the reorganization.

The new organization includes a nearly full listing of precinct committeemen. Appointed committeemen must be approved by the township chairman and the county chairman. "If we can crack Antioch Township it takes away one of the big strongholds of the Republican Party," said DeFosse, adding that there is an increasing interest in the township in the Democratic Party. "We'd like to take away at least 50 percent from

In teacher's death

Hartog sentenced to weekends in jail

Kenneth Hartog, 20, Trevor, was sentenced to spend 20 weekends in the Lake County jail under the substance abuse program after being found guilty of reckless homicide in the death of Anne Helene Kugler, 24, last fall.

Hartog received the sentence plus a $70 fine from Judge William Block on Thursday, April 8. He was found guilty by a Lake County jury on March 2.

Hartog was driving the truck that struck and killed the Antioch High School teacher at 6:30 a.m., on Oct. 23. He admitted to the police, and in court, to injecting alcohol and marijuana hours before the accident.

Landfill goes to county, village add remains open

by GLORIA DAVIS

According to Mayor Ray Toft, the cost of research, engineers and legal fees for investigating the current HOD landfill site, in connection with the plan of Waste Management, Inc. for closing that and opening an additional 36 acre one next to it, already amounts to $20,000.

The disposal company had said that it would pay any costs thus incurred at one of the early meetings on the subject. The question as to will they, and do they have to pay that bill especially now that Waste Management has deferred the annexation petition and are going to the county Wednesday, April 14, still remains.

"If Waste Management doesn't pay for the investigation, I guess it'll have to come out of the budget," Toft said.

Even though it has deferred its request for the annexation of that site to the village of Antioch by letter last week, the disposal company has not crossed off the annexation altogether, saying they still want to be part of the village, but only if the village wants the landfill.

Tom Volini, Waste Management's legal representative, said that the time element, plus the evident controversy its annexation proposal had caused, had moved the disposal company to go forward with its plans by going to the county.

Al Little and the committee appointed by Toft to investigate the present landfill site are expected to make a report and a recommendation to the village board at the committee meeting slated for Monday, April 12.

The committee was originally slated to do this on April 8 before the Antioch Planning Commission. This was canceled when the notification of the petition deferral was received.

According to Toft, the village board will hear the committee's report and recommendation and then the whole thing will probably be put on hold until more is heard from the disposal company.

"They have to file for Senate Bill 172 usage with the county for the 60 acres that are in the township and then come back to the village board and do the same thing concerning the remaining 10 acres that are in the village," Toft said.

With the county filing slated for April 14, the mayor said that more may be known by the regular board meeting on April 19, when some action could be taken on the whole thing if the board chooses to do so.

Toft also speculated that the disposal company might come up with a new proposal concerning possible annexation at that time.

Much sentiment has been heard preferring some village control if the landfill's advent is inevitable.

CONTACT LENS OF GLASSES?

If you've been wearing glasses, should you change to contact lenses? A lot depends on your personal preference. Both glasses and contact lenses do the job they're supposed to: help you see better.

Contact lenses are most popular with young people who are nearsighted and older people who have had cataract surgery, although new developments in lenses make them desirable for most vision patients. Over 15 million Americans have been fitted with contact lenses. And another million-and-a-half put them on for the first time each year. Contacts don't steam or fog when the temperature suddenly changes. They tend to increase the peripheral vision, giving the wearer a wider view of what's around him. And it's almost impossible for another to tell when you're wearing them.

But they do require more care. More attention has to be paid to keeping them clean and germ-free. A lot depends on your needs. Your optometrist can help you decide what's best for you.

them," said DeFosse of his organization's ultimate goal.

Down the road, the township organization hopes to also be able to provide qualified election judges and poll watchers "to eliminate the one-sided intimidation the area is noted for," according to DeFosse. "We want to bring the area back into balance."

DeFosse said that the organization plans on holding regular meetings and encouraging residents to get involved in the Democratic Party in Antioch Township.

"I'm told the last official meeting of the Democratic Party in Antioch Township was in 1976 so we've got a lot of catching up to do, but we're slowly getting there," said DeFosse.

Candidates for the slate were nominated from the floor, DeFosse explained, and not presented as a slate. However positions were unopposed so candidates were elected by acclamation.

"It's probably the first time there's been more than 10 Democrats in one room in Antioch Township in a long time," DeFosse said, noting that about 30 attended the reorganization meeting.

The township party organization also passed a resolution urging the county to turn down the application by Waste Management to expand its landfill operation near Antioch "due to its closeness to town and the community's water supply."

Lake County Deputies were scouring the countryside in search of robbers allegedly responsible for the death of William Hancock; 80, retired railroad contractor; who was a lifelong resident of Antioch.

Word has it that a discount-supermarket base shopping center might be in the not so distant future as far as Antioch is concerned. Although the concept has been a controversial one, talked about for a long time, the possible location might prove a surprise.

We also hear that there might be some activity in other parts of the village concerning Antioch's food supply business.

Get well wishes to Jim Egam, commander of Sequoit VFW Post 4551. Jim has had serious complications resulting from an accident on March 30.

Former Antioch resident and businessman, Al Nelson, established a new Arkansas state standard for walleyes by catching one weighing 22 pounds, 11 ounces, while fishing on the south fork of Little Red River, on March 14.

He was a contestant in the Fourth Annual Fairfield Bay Pepsi Cola National Walleye Fishing Contest.

As of the end of March, while the contest was still in progress, Nelson stood to gain $11,000 for the catch, $10,000 of that would be bonus money for setting a new state record, barring the catch of a larger walleyes.

With a lot of the seniors at Antioch High School (ACHS) making definite college plans, I hear that one of ACHS's honor students, Darci Krahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Krahn, is heading for Monmouth College, Monmouth, because of its great science program.

Annie Mae was glad to see the turnout at the Harlem Globetrotters game at ACHS last Friday, sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

Dorothy Teister tells me that ticket sales for the annual Mental Health Cotillion are going well but there's still plenty of room, so hurry before they're all gone and you miss that usual great time at the Abbey in Lake Geneva.

'Good Doctor' delivers entertaining medicine

by JULIENOBLE

Many plays are steeped in poignancy and sentimentality; others go for the quick laugh with slapstick gags and one-liners, and still others strive to make a dramatic statement by simply painting a picture of the human condition.

PM'L Theater's latest undertaking, "The Good Doctor," by Neil Simon, manages to combine all three elements for an entertaining, if not necessarily enlightening evening of theater.

The play is essentially a group of sketches of everyday life, based on the classic stories of Anton Chekov.

Simon's adaptations predictably focus on the comedic aspects of the stories and the sketches for the most part were full of life and hilarity, with the first one setting the tone of the evening.

Concerning itself with a lowly civil servant worker who aspires to make a name for himself with the "General and Minister of Public Works," the vignette explores what happens when the civil servant accidentally sneezes all over the general's head at the opera and blows (pun intended) the mishap terribly out of proportion.

Bruce Stamm as the young civil servant is convincingly obsessed with the accident and George Blanksten's exasperated general was truly worth five stars. Lillian Allen, as the general's stuffy wife, had few lines in the sketch, but really conveyed her aristocratic disgust through wonderful raised eyebrows and other facial expressions.

Unfortunately, the next sketch, about a naive, too-trustworthy and rather spineless governess being taught a lesson by a seemingly ruthless mistress of the house, was lacking.

While Dawn Ferry was believable as a shy, hand-wringing governess and Allen was convincing as her employer, the sketch seemed to drag on and on to a none-too-exciting conclusion.

Too Late For Happiness was the play's only musical sketch. The sentimental exchange between two elderly "would-be" sweethearts provided a welcome change of pace from the high farce of most of the rest of the vignettes.

The most successful of the play's sketches was The Drowned Man, with Stamm giving an inspired performance as an eccentric river rat who earns his living by imitating a drowning man for interested passersby. Stamm, who's comedic abilities bordered on Jerry Lewis silliness in the play's other sketches, exhibited a more understated, yet still clear-cut comedic edge in this sketch.

Carrying the sketch with his grungy depiction of a river bum, Stamm shares the stage with Michael Stanton.

Stanton, who plays the writer, connects the play's vignettes with explanatory narration.

Anne Marie Cina stole the stage with her screaming antics in A Defenseless Creature and Don Crop and Blanksten delivered understated humor at its best in A Quiet War.

"The Good Doctor" will run on Friday and Saturday nights, April 16, 17, 23 and 24. In addition, a matinee performance has been scheduled for Sunday afternoon, April 18.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. for the evening presentations and 2:30 p.m. for the Sunday matinee.

Stage review

'Chapter Two' gives On Cue good start

by GLORIA DAVIS

Polished, sparkling and fast moving are the words that best describe "Chapter Two," the first production of Antioch's newest theatrical venture, at the Country House Restaurant.

The dinner-theater concept, one of this reviewers favorite ways to spend an evening, has come to town and the only thing lacking at the Country House was a deserved larger audience.

After a delightful buffet that included a salad bar and the choice of many entrees, an On Cue Production ticket holder is directed to the banquet-room downstairs to view the play seated in dinner-theater atmosphere, at tables where drinks are served and smoking is allowed.

One can enjoy the evening's entertainment with all the comforts of watching your favorite tv show at home.

Working with a well-done set, On Cue's producers took no chances with their premier production, stacking the deck all the way, starting out with material from the master of intimate comedies, Neil Simon. "Chapter Two" has some of the cleverest dialogue to come from Simon's pen.

Then they got Lou Jones, well-known award winning local theatrical personage, to direct. They also capped the whole thing by casting four extremely capable and talented actors in the lead roles.

The parts of George and Leo Schneider, Jennie Malone and Fay Medwick are all of equal importance to the plot.

Frank DiMarco, Larry Bersie, Priscilla Gwin Stollenwerk and Ginny Schaufel handle these roles with professional aplomb, tossing Simon's funny repartee around the stage with well-planned abandon.

Never once is the audience treated to the uneasiness that arises with the uncertainty of most amateur productions.

"Chapter Two" has all the ingredients called for in successful dinner-theater, comedy and romance, with a touch of pathos.

My only criticism is directed to DiMarco whose audience and co-player eye contact needs work. I often had the feeling he was in the total state of recall.

"Chapter Two," still has three performances this weekend, Friday and Saturday nights and a Sunday afternoon matinee. Try it, you'll like it.

Antioch jeweler returns from tour in far east Pearls from the Inland Sea of Japan. Jade from Hong Kong. Sapphires and rubies from Thailand. Diamonds from Singapore. Opals from Australia. Gold from New Zealand.

Sound like a king's ransom of the treasures of the earth—but they're all part of the special three-week buying seminar attended by George Hahn of Hahn Jewelers in Antioch.

Hahn was one of 31 jewelers who left the United States Feb. 27, for a study/buying tour that covered three Japanese cities—Tokyo, Kyoto and Kobe (where the Japanese pearl market is located), Hong Kong, Bangkok, (Thailand), Singapore, Bali, Sydney, (Australia), and Christchurch, Millford Sound, Queenstown, Rotorua and Auckland in New Zealand. An additional week was spent in Hawaii.

Learning the means by which cultured pearls are grown was of great interest to Hahn.

During cold months, the Japanese move the cages of oysters out of the Inland Sea area of Japan to the waters of the Japanese current which is warm. It's a distance of about 90 miles. The oysters can remain out of water for 24 hours with no damage.

"The biggest problem in pearls are growers who get hard up for money, and take up their oysters after only a year or two. Thus they don't have a heavy enough nacre (pearlescent coating) to be as beautiful and iridescent as they should be—nor will they wear as well," said Hahn.

"Color of the nacre is also important," he continues. "White or rose are the most flattering to American women. But the Japanese say they have no trouble disposing of the yellow colored pearls for they seem to be more flattering to the dark complexioned women of South America, for instance," he said.

Hahn says that the smooth, perfectly round pearl is the most desirable and the most expensive.

Hahn says the most exotic place he visited was Bangkok, Thailand with its canals, fancy temples and where he rode an elephant. He was also impressed with the quaintness of Bali... its rice paddies, its houses which are actually compounds. A family builds a wall around its compound. Inside you'll find a building where the men sleep. Another building where the women sleep. There's a building used as a kitchen. Another used for food storage. There may be a building for one's grandparents.

"The Orient and the South Pacific are a different way of life Hahn concludes. 'It's a trip I'll never forget. Not only because of what I saw but what I learned about gems that will enable me as a jeweler to serve my customers better.'"

TODAY THIS HOUSE IS JUST SMART. TOMORROW IT'LL BE BRILLIANT.

Nobody has to tell you what's happening to the cost of energy today. It's all up, up, up.

So if you're looking for a new house, it makes a whole lot of sense to look for one with an Energy Smart sign out front. One that uses energy like a miser. That keeps the cost down, down, down.

That means a house with double-glazed windows.

With ceilings insulated to a minimum rating of R-19.

With walls insulated to at least R-11.

With exterior openings carefully weather-stripped and caulked.

And with an Electric Heat Pump instead of a central air conditioner and furnace.

That's the key. The Heat Pump.

All summer long it works just like central air conditioning. But in the winter it reverses itself. It takes heat from the air outside and pumps it inside to keep you warm.

What's more, the Heat Pump does that so efficiently it provides at least 50 percent more energy (heat) than the energy (electricity) it uses.

And that's very, very smart when you consider that the cost of natural gas has gone up 52 percent faster than electricity since 1967, and oil has gone up 113 percent faster.

Better yet, it'll be downright brilliant when natural gas gets deregulated or OPEC bumps up the price of oil a few more times.

The Energy Smart house. It can make tomorrow a lot easier to live with.

ANOTHER CHOICE FOR GROCERY SHOPPERS

Because of the tragedy of Antioch losing both the Jewel and the A&P stores, this paper ran an article listing alternate near-by stores at which you could shop. There was one store which was overlooked. The Trevor Certified Market Basket in Trevor, Wisconsin is only three miles from Antioch and is easy to locate. Go north on Hwy. 83 to the first traffic light in Wisconsin at Hwy. 'C'. Turn left and go one mile. This store is large enough to handle your complete shopping needs, yet small enough to give you personalized service. Their prices are competitive with all the stores in the area. They have the reputation of having the best meat for one hundred miles around. So add the Trevor Certified Market Basket to your list of stores you will want to try out as you seek a new favorite shopping place.

Slate May meeting on county's plan

The Lake County Regional Planning Commission has given its approval to a proposed revision of the county's present Comprehensive Plan.

The revision, entitled The Framework Plan, is intended to guide the location and intensity of all new development anticipated to occur by the Year 2000. This proposed plan has now been forwarded to the county board and is being reviewed by the board's planning, zoning and building committee.

The preparation of this plan has been a joint effort between Lake County and the 48 incorporated cities and villages within the county. Over the last two and one-half years, over 175 public hearings and meetings have been held to receive comments and suggestions from the municipalities and the general public.

The Framework Plan is based on the state's projection that the county will grow to a population of approximately 611,000 people by the Year 2000, an increase of 39 percent over the County's 1980 population of 440,000.

The Framework Plan makes it possible for the county and its municipalities to guide growth over the next 20 years in a manner that will minimize current and future costs to taxpayers while providing adequate water, sewer, roads and school facilities.

The planning, zoning, and building committee of the Lake County Board will conduct a series of public hearings on The Framework Plan. These hearings will be held in each of the six county board districts at the following locations:

District 1, May 18, Lake Forest Village Hall, Council Chambers 220 E. Deerpath, (312) 234-2600.

District 2, May 13, County Building, Waukegan Assembly Room 18 N. County St. (312) 689-6336.

District 3, May 17, Zion City Hall 2828 Sheridan Rd. (312) 872-4546.

District 4, May 19, Lindenhurst Village Hall Conference Room 2301 E. Sand Lake Rd. (312) 356-8252.

District 5, May 20, Libertyville Village Hall Class room (downstairs) 200 E. Cook (312) 362-2430.

District 6, May 25, Wauconda Township Hall Community Hall 505 Bonner Rd. (312) 526-2631.

All hearings to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Copies of The Framework Plan are available for $10 at the offices of the Lake County Dept. of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality, 18 N. County St., Waukegan, Ill. (312) 689-6350 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Copies of the proposed plan will be available for examination at no cost during the hearings. Copies of The Framework Plan have also been distributed to all municipalities and libraries in Lake County.

All interested parties are urged to attend these hearings.

Delay Wilmot opener

Following the stormy weather which hit much of the Midwest during the first weekend of April which dropped large amounts of rain and snow throughout the area, Ray Toft, president of Toft Auto Racing Inc. which promotes stock car racing at Kenosha County Speedway in Wilmot, has postponed the opening of the racing season at the one-third mile clay oval one week until Saturday, April 24.

"We were just beginning to dry out, but with all of the moisture which the track and pit area has received, it will take several days of warm and sunny weather before we can resume preparations to open," Toft explained.

Super-modifieds with their double wings, open-wheeled modifieds and late model sportsman will be the three divisions which will see action in opening night competition. Time trials are scheduled for 6:30 p.m. on Saturdays with racing getting underway at 7:30.

Friday night racing is tentatively scheduled to begin on June 11. The classes which will be running will be announced at a later date.

The BADGER Midgits are slated for four appearances this season at Wilmot. The first appearance will be over Memorial Day weekend on Saturday, May 29. Other dates the group has scheduled include Friday, June 25, Friday, August 13 and Saturday, Sept. 18.

For the first time since 1979, a open-wheeled sprint car show has been scheduled with the National Speedways of Tampa, Fla. group scheduled for Saturday, June 19.

Toft also announced that Lyons & Ryon Ford of Antioch is sponsoring a pace car for the track this season.

For weather information phone (414) 862-2446.

The Antioch Area Senior Center is now offering square dancing sessions every Friday afternoon at the center. For more information, call (312) 395-7120.

That First Dental Visit

Many parents want to know when to bring their child to the dentist for the first time. Many fear their child will be upset by the experience. Unfortunately, this attitude often means that the dentist first sees the child when a toothache occurs.

The best time to bring the child to the dentist is before problems arise. This way, the first visit can be a pleasant experience.

It is important that the parent present the dental visit to the child in a positive way. Don't mention pain; don't offer a reward for good behavior.

Most dentists agree that the child should be seen by a dentist at about age three. At this point the child's set of first teeth is complete. Usually, there hasn't been a chance for many cavities to form. Also, the child hasn't yet heard any scare stories from his peers.
